100 FRIENDS HONOR REV. AND MRS. R. S. H. GREENE AT FAREWELL PARTY

More than 100 friends gathered at the Memorial Hall, Lac la Biche, on the evening of May 1, to bid adieu to Rev. R. S. H. Green, Anglican priest for this district and Mrs. Green, who are leaving shortly to make their home in Fairview. This popular young couple arrived in Lac la Biche some five and a half years ago and during their time of residence here they have both taken an active part in the life of the community and will be greatly missed on their departure.

Mr. Greene was the tireless coach of the boys' hockey team, the girls' soft ball team, he was president of the skating club, regional director of the Home and School Association, and in this capacity worked very hard and was instrumental in procuring a full-time music teacher for the town. He was also secretary of the Lion's Club, active in the Legion as well as other worthwhile community projects.

Mrs. Greene, as well as caring for her home and duties as mother of two small sons, David, 4, Michael, 2½, and daughter Catherine, 1 year was active in the Women's Institute as well as the Girls' Club of the Church.

The farewell, convened by Mrs. Dot Hamar, commenced with a tea followed by a musical program and presentations by the various organizations.

His Worship, Mayor Hamar, brought greeting from the town and Michael Maccagno, MLA, also spoke on behalf of the town. A piano solo by Anita Sentza was followed by a farewell speech from Victor Mechetti on behalf of the skating club. Marilyn McMillan entertained with a piano solo, after which E. G. Dobson, president of the Lion's Club presented Mr. Greene with a gift. Ernie Shanks, president of the Home and School Association, extended thanks to Mr. Greene for his efforts in the organizing of that association and presented a farewell gift. The audience enjoyed another piano selection by Donna Hamar, after which gifts from the boys' hockey team and the girls' softball team were presented by Dee Graham and Betty Williams.

Miss Erika End, the music teacher, gave a delightful rendition of Rachmaninoff's Prelude. This was followed by the presentation to Mrs. Greene of a W.I. spoon by the president, Mrs. Mary Hamar. J. A. Williams, secretary of the Legion presented gifts from that organization to both Rev. and Mrs. Greene. Mrs. Stanley Grandish presented a gift from Hylo Home and School. On behalf of the community, Mr. Senetza tendered a gift to the departing couple of a coffee table and a purse of money.

Sid Lore, former district agriculturist for Lac la Biche, and Mrs. Lore, now living in Edmonton, were present for the occasion and Mr. Lore spoke briefly.

At the conclusion of the program Mrs. Meardi of Hylo sang Songs of Schubert accompanied by Miss Erika End.

Mr. and Mrs. Greene both expressed appreciation for the evening and for the gifts and extended a hearty invitation to all to visit them in their new home in Fairview.

WILLING TO TAKE a job on herself is Mrs. Keith MacDonald, formerly Eva Sutton, of Slave Lake. Standing beside the "Bump" sign is the daughter of C. M. Sutton and sister of Mary who live at Grassland.

Weather Forces SC To Postpone Meet

LAC LA BICHE — In weather that brought joy only to the farmers, some 300 Social Credit delegates gathered at the Memorial Hall at Lac la Biche for the nominating convention. Points were represented from as far as Imperial Mills and McMurray.

Orvis Kennedy, president of the Social Credit League, who was to have been present and rule on the credentials of the delegates, was unable to make the trip due to the heavy snow storm.

Because of Mr. Kennedy's absence the records of the delegates were not on hand and the executive, consisting of Martin Schaub, chairman; Rudolph Michetti, William Palamaruk and George Michetti, was faced with the unpopular necessity of postponing the convention.

The convention will now be held May 16 in Lac la Biche.

Issue Building Permit At Council Meeting; Discuss Gas Franchise

LAC LA BICHE — The Dominion Government Forestry Department has taken out a building permit for an $8,000 combined living quarters and laboratory building to be built at Lac la Biche.

The Forest Biology Department operates three other field stations in the north of the province. They are situated at Rocky Mountain House, Entrance and Peace River.

The department maintains laboratories at these forest conservation stations for the purpose of studying insects which damage trees and leaves as well as any diseases which attack and kill the trees of the Canadian forests.

At last week's regular meeting of the town council which was again attended by a good representation of ratepayers, building permits were approved for an addition to the funeral home, two private garages and repairs to a store. Total building permits amounted to $12,750.

First reading was given to by-law 308 respecting Thursday closing of businesses and by-law 309 respecting parking in certain freight truck loading zones.

It was decided that the census of the town should be taken and the required by-law was passed. The last town census was taken in the spring of 1957 when the population was recorded as 1157.

A special meeting of council was called last Thursday to deal with the annual budget for the town. After 4½ hours with only part of the estimates completed, the meeting was adjourned till May 5.

Council was again attended and was concerned chiefly with the natural gas question. Mr. Irving and Mr. Ellis of Associated Engineers were present to give a report on the recent tenders for franchise agreements to supply the town with gas. The engineers' detailed report was read by the mayor and in summing up the findings the engineers recommended the granting of a franchise to Northland Utilities Co. as the best proposition for the town.

Councillors examined the report and asked for explanations on many points. Some of the figures used were challenged as being unrealistic and not a basis for making a decision against the town owning its own gas distribution system. As the report showed estimates of results of five years of operation, council felt it should be revised to include the first 10 years of operation. The engineers agreed to review the report and meet a committee of council as soon as possible and also to arrange for a meeting with the board of public utilities commissioners, and the provincial treasurer.

THE Homemaker

By EDITH WITNEY

Like everything else, trends in interior decorating change from time to time. To give your home the new look, here is "what is new in interior decoration":

Light colored backgrounds for your room settings — use pastel greens, blues, grey and off-white tones.

White, or white plus a little of the wall color for ceilings.

Bold shapes, patterns and colors in small accessories, i.e. pottery & cushions.

Coming: Bold stripes and geometric patterns in scatter rugs.

On the way in: An emphasis on texture for your drapes rather than pattern, but tone on tone patterns are still a good bet.

On the way out: Stippled plaster ceilings with plain border bands; gold and silver metallic threads in drapes and upholstery; gold flecked counter tops and floor covering.

To help with your interior decorating, a pamphlet "Color in the Home" is available from this office.

MOTHER'S DAY

May 10 is a very important day —the day we should honor the queen of our homes—our mothers. Do a little extra to help make it a day she will cherish in her memory months after. If you are home, ease her work and remember her with a small gift if possible. It is not the size of the gift that matters but the thought you send with it. Make your remembrance a special card, a bouquet of flowers, a bottle of perfume or anthing which will show your appreciation for all the things she is and does.

TO ALL MOTHERS:

This message comes with love to Mom
And in each line it brings
A world of deepest gratitude
For countless little things.

It's prompted by more special thoughts
Than any words can say
And it is filled with wishes
For a Happy Mother's Day.

HEALTH UNIT NOTES

WHAT IS BCG VACCINATION?

The tubercle bacillus, the germ which causes tuberculosis, was discovered by Robert Koch, a German doctor, in 1882.

When Koch isolated the germ he proved conclusively that there was no tuberculosis without it.

Tuberculosis is an infectious disease and is spread when persons with active, open tuberculosis cough germs into the air where they are breathed in by others, or get germs on eating utensils or other articles used by people with tuberculosis.

Although tuberculosis is an infectious disease it is rarely contracted from very brief exposure. In the vast majority of cases the disease is contracted by continuous exposure, such as living, rooming or working with a person who has TB without taking the careful precautions which are used in hospitals to avoid infection. Those who live in the same household or work close to a person with active tuberculosis are in grave danger of getting the disease.

Some people have more resistance to tuberculosis than others and the resistance of any person may differ from time to time. A rested, well nourished body is much more resistant than one which is undernourished, or tired out by lack of sleep or illness.

Tuberculosis is not inherited. It is true that several members of a family often get it, but that is because of the way the disease is contracted. Our bodies are generally able to cope with a few germs encountered here and there, but when one member of a family has active TB other members get germs week after week, month after month, with the result that by the time the most serious case is discovered one or more other members of the family may also have it.

There is a very simple test which shows whether your body is coping with any TB germs which it might have met. It is called The Tuberculin Test and is done by injecting a drop of clear fluid under the skin of the forearm. Forty-eight hours later this area is examined, if redness or swelling is present, we know that your body has been invaded by TB germs and we ask that you have a chest X-ray (this is a free service) to determine whether this redness indicates immunity to TB, which it usually does or whether you have a tubercular infection.

If your arm shows no redness after a Tuberculin Test it means you have no immunity to TB. We can vaccinate you against TB with BCG vaccine. This is a very simple procedure. On adults it is done on the back and on babies on the upper arm.

We strongly advise every resident of the area to take advantage of this service.

Watch your newspaper and watch for posters which will tell you when and where you may have your Tuberculin Test and if necessary your BCG vaccination.

HEALTH THROUGH CHIROPRACTIC

HANDICAPS TO HEALTH

Did you ever try banging your head against a stone wall? The chances are you never did. Come to think of it we have never seen anyone try it—physically at least.

Yet we are continually meeting people who, in their search for health, persist in doing what amounts to the same thing. Even scientists are not immune. A lot of misguided effort has been, and is still being spent searching for the germs which cause all of our disease.

Chiropractors have entirely different views as to the cause of disease. No one would seriously deny the presence of germs. They are everywhere, always. But Chiropractic reasoning is that germs are the result of disease, not the cause of it. Germs will not attack live flesh. Germs feed only on decayed and decaying matter. The proper way to cure disease is to restore life to that part of the body which has failed.

There is only one source of life and power for all the organs, glands, muscles of the body. That is the nervous system. Over the millions of tiny nerve fibres that radiate through nerve trunks from the spinal column to every part of the body there is a continuous flow of nerve impulses. So long as these impulses are flowing freely and fully sickness is impossible.

Sickness starts when a nerve trunk is squeezed by a misaligned vertebra in the spine. This cuts down or blocks off entirely, the flow of impulses to that part of the body served by the squeezed nerve trunk. The obvious cure for such a condition is to remove the pressure from the nerve trunk by restoring the misaligned vertebra to its proper position. That is what your Chiropractor is specially trained to do.

Even if your best friends still persist in beating their heads against the stone wall of facts and experience that's no reason why you should suffer. If you are sick, take advantage of Chiropractic's natural common sense methods of regaining health. See your Chiropractor.

Help Your Child Toward Maturity

By Dr. Walter C. Alvarez

Emeritus Member, Division of Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

Part 14

Since the happiness of many a man and woman depends on the satisfactions derived from their children, it would seem necessary to say a few words about the wise rearing of children, so that they will not only be a joy, a comfort and a source of pride to the parents, but will develop and function as adequate human beings on their own.

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez

It is good when parents make their children feel that they are all equally loved and equally important in the home. This gives children a feeling of security, and makes the home a happy place.

Fortunate is the mother and her small children if she likes to take them in her lap, cuddle them, pet them, talk to them and read to them, and tell them she loves them.

There are some people who can love with words, but not with their hands. Fortunate is the boy whose mother can reach out and put her arms around him and kiss him.

Fortunate is the mother who does not fall for all the teachings of "arm-chair psychiatrists" who tell us it is very dangerous to show affection to our children. These theories of the thirties are now fading out, and people need not be so fearful of showing love to their youngsters as they used to be.

Too often today, because of the current idea that strict control of children is likely to hurt their egos, many parents let their youngsters do pretty much as they please. Partly because of these ideas, many parents largely abdicate and give up the running of many details of the home to their youngsters. Actually, I am sure this is bad for the children and also hard on them. It would be so much easier on everyone if the parents would live up to their responsibilities, and continue to run things as their parents and grandparents did, making the decisions that are for the good of all in the home.

Children need and want limits imposed by adults on their behavior; such limitations make them feel secure.

BE COURTEOUS

Limiting a child's behavior does not mean that we should not be courteous to them. Being courteous is by far the best way to teach them consideration for us and for others; perhaps it is the only way.

Let us greet the child pleasantly in the morning; let us try to talk to him during breakfast and other meals. When we want him to do something, let us say "please" and let us say "thank you" when he has done some little service for us.

We hate to have children interrupt us when we are reading, and so why shouldn't we be careful not to interrupt them needlessly when they are building a block house, or putting together a puzzle? We don't like to be interrupted when we are telling a story, so why should we interrupt the child or ignore him when he comes to tell us something?

A mother should say goodbye to her children when they set off for school, and if possible she should be home to welcome them gladly when they come looking for her on their return.

If a parent has inadvertently offended a child, he should be quick to say, "I am sorry," or "Please forgive me." Let us always be careful about our children's rights as individuals; let us not invade them. Let us respect their possessions, and let us never shame them in front of other people.

DON'T BREAK FAITH

It is a wonderful thing when a mother has always behaved so calmly and judiciously with her children that they are not afraid to come to her to talk over their problems. As I always say to mothers, just once break faith with your child and have horrors over what he has told you, or, what is even more unwise and unforgivable, scold him or punish him for what he has told you in confidence and you are through; your child will never confide in you again—and he shouldn't!

In many families, the parents rarely, if ever, discuss with their children the important things in life or the things that lie close to their hearts. The children seldom say anything to their parents about their stormy emotions, and their vivid experiences, desires, and interests.

One reason for this is that many persons are not very articulate; it is hard to draw them out on anything. Another difficulty is that it is hard for people to bridge a generation, and another is that it is hard for a child to talk to his parents of intimate, and especially sexual, topics. He could more easily talk of these to a stranger.

KEEPS OWN COUNSEL

One trouble is that a child who for years has perforce been often scolded and corrected by his parents has gotten into the habit of keeping his own counsel about everything, and saying as little as possible at home. It is an unusually fine mother who stays so close to her children that they can come home from a dance and tell her happily all that went on.

It is a good and wise parent who quickly forgives his children their misdeeds. We don't like a child who sulks and, hence, we too must not sulk.

Often a small child has to be disciplined. He is not likely ever to be a very lovable person later on unless he is disciplined, but as soon as he has been taught his lesson, he should again be shown

McLennan Red Wings Honored With Banquet; Casault Wins Two Awards

McLENNAN — A capacity crowd gathered in the McLennan Elks Hall for a banquet for the McLennan Red Wings. The Red Wings with their escorts were the guests of honor at the centre tables.

J. Pickard was the master of ceremonies and introduced the speakers. Dr. H. W. Fish, the Red Wing league representative, spoke on behalf of the team and the year's activities. He remarked that while the Red Wings comp eted the season at the bottom of the league the team provided good competition and satisfied the fans with their spirit and endeavor. It was difficult to compete with other teams having six to seven imported players from many points in Canada, but the boys made every game interesting.

E. P. Beheils complimented the boys on behalf of the Memorial Arena Committee and thanked all those who assisted with the handling of the hockey games during the season.

Mayor W. C. Kirkland spoke on behalf of the town council and of the good spirit that prevailed all winter with a young and a losing team.

Armand Brule, captain of the Red Wings, thanked the gathering for the banquet. A Mungall spoke on behalf of the Recreation Commission and the promotion of sports for the young and the part the Red Wing organization assisted.

Norman Casault was the winner of two awards. Dr. Fish presented him with the Canadian Legion trophy awarded by vote as the most valuable player of the past season. E P. Behei's presented Casault on behalf of the arena with a hat for his "hat trick" scored during the latter part of the season.

A Stanley Cup playoff film was shown following the banquet and finished with a dance during the evening.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion catered for the banquet with all food donated by local families and merchants and did an excellent job of organization for the banquet without any expenses. The hall was donated by the Elk's for the afternoon and evening.

Falher Fire Department Kept Busy Answering Calls To House Fires

FALHER — The Falher fire department answered two alarms recently, as the unseasonal cold weather forced home owners to stoke up their fires again.

In Falher, the house of G. Gervais, narrowly averted destruction when a roof fire, possibly caused by a chimney spark, started in dry shingles. Young Maurice Lacourse, sleeping in the upper story of the house, heard fire in the roof, above his head and called his parents at once. With the volunteer fire men all at the arena, having just finished a fire drill, the fire truck was at the house within minutes. The men were able to stop the fire quickly and with a minimum of water damage. With a head start this fire would have been very difficult to hold.

Earlier in the week, the fire department answered a call for help from Sylvio Sarvant, living about 5 miles from Falher. Apparently, the severe cold had frozen the water pipe under the house. It had been thawed out with a torch but contact had been made with wiring in the house. The fire spread through the electrical circuit. Fortunately the children of the house had left for school and neighbors seeing the fire called for help. The inside of the house was badly damaged but the outer shell of the building was saved.

This fire again brought up the question of whether the municipality should have fire coverage and be taxed to provide the equipment. The town has to give special permission every time the fire truck leaves town, and a charge is made. This loses precious time, and the town is left with no fire coverage at all.

Suggestions and recommendations are being presented to the municipality to see if better arrangements can be made.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

ARTHUR LOCK CHANGED WORLDS

A missionary was speaking to a group of simple natives. He told them what Jesus was like.

One of them interrupted him. "I have met him!" he said. It developed that he was speaking of a medical missionary who lived, healed and worked among a tribe some distance away.

Many people feel that to be like Jesus, they must focus the impact of their talents and personalities upon society so as to change it for the better. And that is true.

But I believe that something else must come first. The individual himself must become changed before he can change society. Christ must first come into his own life. And when that happens, society is already affected.

Christ-made men make the world a better place. Christ-made men change the course of destiny for humanity.

When I think of what a man is and what he can be, I am reminded of Arthur R. Lock. For a quarter of a century he had been a victim of alcoholism. For twenty of those twenty-five years, he had been in hiding. He was hiding from his mother, from his own conscience, from a society in which he had once moved as a successful businessman. Most of all—he was desperately trying to hide from God.

The skid row of Houston, Texas, became his place of habitation. The story of the prodigal son was written again, for he went from riches to rags and from comfortable living to the lewest gutters.

During the days of his human dereliction on Capitol Avenue, there was a young policeman by the name of Jack H. who patrolled skid row. In a way, he was Arthur Lock's friend, although he had to arrest him frequently.

One day Arthur told him, "Jack, you're going to earn your way to the chief's job by arresting 'Bunk' Lock."

Jack is Chief of Police in Houston now. But in a recent statement he said, "I did become Chief of Police in my city. But I no longer have the job of policing 'Bunk' Lock. Today 'Bunk' Lock is Arthur R. Lock, gentleman, Christian and a respected citizen of Houston. Skid row knows him no more! And instead of a bottle, he now has a Bible!"

Arthur Lock tells why:

"The thing that made the miraculous change in my life was simply the miracle of the 'new birth.'

"It happened one Sunday when a group of Christians came out to a city prison farm to give their testimony to the prisoners. A young girl stood and told how she had prayed, 'God, be merciful to me, a sinner, and save my soul.'

"That testimony was used of God to produce a miracle in my life.

"In my dying condition, I crawled out of bed, got on my knees, lifted my twisted hands toward Heaven and cried out, 'O God, be merciful to me, a sinner.'

"That day I was lifted from despair to a new horizon. 'Bunk' Lock was dead forever, and a new creature in Christ Jesus had begun to live."

Alberta Government Goes Outside Province For Its Municipal Funds

The Alberta government is going outside the province for the first time to raise funds for municipalities to carry out their 1959 capital works programs. Most of the money will be borrowed in the United States.

The Social Credit government now is seeking $50,000,000 on the New York market. Another $20,000,000 expected to be required by municipalities before the end of the year will be raised in August, either on the Canadian or American market.

The money will be borrowed by the government-sponsored Alberta Municipal Financing Corporation, with the government guaranteeing the loan.

Provincial Treasurer E. W. Hinman said it is the government's policy to continue to aid municipalities with the raising of loans for capital works projects.

F. G. Stewart, deputy provincial treasurer, said weeks of negotiations are needed before the corporation receives the New York loan. It is not likely that money would be turned over to the municipalities before July 1.

Representatives of the First Boston Corporation and Wood, Gundy and Company, heading the New York syndicate through which the loan is being arranged, met government officials here this week.

Mr. Stewart and two other government representatives — Provincial Auditor C. K. Huckvale and Deputy Attorney-General H. J. Wilson—have left for New York to open formal negotiations.

Mr. Stewart said the corporation seeks a 20- or 25-year loan with an interest rate not higher than 5½ per cent. There would be a small extra charge to municipalities, making their rates slightly higher.

Since 1950 the government has provided low-interest loans to municipalities for capital works projects such as schools and hospitals, water and sewer lines and streets and sidewalks. Rates in 1950 were about two per cent, increasing to 3¼ per cent in 1955.

Using money from its reserve fund, the government supplied most loans required by municipalities but in 1956 set up the financing corporation. That was when government reserves were decreasing because of declining oil revenues and smaller municipalities were expected to have trouble obtaining their own loans on the open market.

Flu Claims Several Lives Here

Influenza has taken the lives of several Edmontonians during the past few months, according to city health officials. Although flu cases in the city have never reached epidemic proportions, Saskatoon health officers say nearly 30 per cent of the population is affected.

A number of deaths in eastern Canada have been attributed to a recurrence of Asian flu which hit Albertans hard in the fall of 1957, but Dr. J. B. Little, medical health officer for Edmonton, said there are no known cases of this type here at present.

Dr. Little said that in order to determine if a patient has Asian flu, a sample of the virus is sent to Ottawa for testing and this procedure takes about three weeks. He said that the city hopes to have its own virus testing lab here soon.

A 52-year-old man has been reportedly a victim of influenza in Edmonton, and in Saskatoon an autopsy performed on the body of a 17-year-old girl revealed flu was the cause of death.

Printers Protest Liquor Ad Laws

TORONTO — Ontario's liquor advertising laws should be overhauled because they discriminate against the province's advertising and printing industry, the Ontario Federation of Printing Trades Unions said.

At its annual conference scheduled for Hamilton May 9-10, the federation will request the provincial government to change regulations.

"Under the present laws, there are no restrictions on the amount of such advertising allowed in the province providing the material emanates from an outside source," stated the release.

WHAT IS B.C.G. VACCINATION?

The tubercle bacillus, the germ which causes tuberculosis, was discovered by Robert Koch, a German doctor, in 1882.

When Koch isolated the germ he proved conclusively that there was no tuberculosis without it.

Tuberculosis is an infectious disease and is spread when persons with active, open tuberculosis cough germs into the air where they are breathed in by others, or get germs on eating utensils or other articles used by people with tuberculosis.

Although tuberculosis is an infectious disease it is rarely contracted from very brief exposure. In the vast majority of cases the disease is contracted by continuous exposure, such as living, rooming or working with a person who has TB without taking the careful precautions which are used in hospitals to avoid infection. Those who live in the same household or work close to a person with active tuberculosis are in grave danger of getting the disease.

Some people have more resistance to tuberculosis than others and the resistance of any person may differ from time to time. A rested, well nourished body is much more resistant than one which is undernourished, or tired out by lack of sleep or illness.

Tuberculosis is not inherited. It is true that several members of a famliy often get it, but that is because of the way the disease is contracted. Our bodies are generally able to cope with a few germs encountered here and there, but when one member of a family has active TB other members get germs week after week, month after month, with the result that by that time the most serious case is discovered one or more other members of the family may also have it.

There is a very simple test which shows whether your body is coping with any TB germs which it might have met. It is called The Tuberculin Test and is done by injecting a drop of clear fluid under the skin of the fore arm. Forty-eight hours later this area is examined, if redness or swelling is present, we know that your body has been invaded by TB germs and we ask that you have a chest X-ray (this is a free service) to determine whether this redness indicates immunity to TB, which it usually does or whether you have a Tubercular infection.

If your arm shows NO redness after a Tuberculin Test it means you have no immunity to TB. We can vaccinate you against TB with B.C.G. vaccine. This is a very simple procedure. On adults it is done on the back and on babies on the upper arm.

We strongly advise every resident of the area to take advantage of this service.

Watch your newspaper and watch for Posters which will tell you when and where you may have your Tuberculin Test and if necessary your B.C.G. vaccination.

Great engineering has made this a great 3-Plow Tractor. New depth and draft control keeps 3-point hitch implements at pre-set level of depth. When going is slow—conditions are tough—the weight of the implement and draft is automatically transferred to the rear wheels. This matches traction to soil conditions, means more pull when you need it—faster operation without excess built-in weight—more work with less fuel.

Alberta District News In Brief

A FEW WEEKS AGO, the new Marshall Wells stocked Leitch Hardware store at Mannville marked its official opening and also celebrated its 50th anniversary. Standing in the builders' hardware and paints section are Mrs. Leitch, Ross Leitch and Ralph Leitch. In becoming a Marshall Wells store, the interior was completely renovated and the result is most flattering. The easily seen displays and clearly marked sections are a great help to shoppers.

Prizes, Banquet Mark Opening Hardware Store

Grand prize winners at the recent opening of the new Marshall Wells store, owned by the Leitch's of Mannville, have been announced.

They are: E. Hubbard, a trilight lamp; Mrs. Neil MacKinnon, a flash camera, and Haro'd Warrilow of Minburn, a set of dishes Treasure hunt winners include Martha Scott, Ethel Mercer, and Jack Hawley.

To mark the grand opening, which was also the 50th anniversary in the hardware business in Mannville for the Leitch family, a turkey banquet was enjoyed at Lind's Coffee Bar.

Attending this were Marshall Wells officials, members of Leitch hardware staff, including Ross and Helen Leitch, Ralph Leitch, Mr. and Mrs. James Johnstone. A toast to Ross and Helen Leitch was proposed by Marshall Wells officials on their golden jubilee in business.

Farm Groups Will Sponsor Students

LAVOY — Each year in June a young people's week is held at the University of Alberta, requirements being the persons attending are from farms, and these persons are usually sponsored by an organization.

This year the Lavoy WI, FUA and Alberta Wheat Pool are looking for any young persons who might be able to attend this week and use the knowledge gained. If so interested, members of these organizations may be contacted for further information.

Last year Joan Kittle, sponsored by the WI, and Wayne Smiley, sponsored by the FUA, attended this course.

House Renovation Discloses Letter

MANNVILLE — In the house presently owned by Mr. and Mrs. Dan Smith in Mannville, an interesting discovery was made while renovating the building.

A letter addressed to Fred Summers from Sam Barr, believed to be a relative of the Barrs at Vermilion, written during the first world war and bearing the date of 1916 was found.

Mr. and Mrs. Summers were living in this house at that date, according to advice given by a daughter, Mrs. Fred Prill here.

Pemmican Found At Bowling Green

BOWLING GREEN — One day recently when Bill Sharp, John Tierele and Alex Paranaych were helping Clarence Samograd pick roots they came across a large object in the soil. The outside was hard, like cement, but when it was opened it gave the odor of Saskatoon berries and the seeds could be seen. The interior was very soft.

The article is believed to be Indian pemmican. A piece was taken to Minburn school.

Scout Commissioner Reviews Local Troop

MANNVILLE—On April 23 at the Legion Hall, H. P. Holloway, Provincial Scout Commissioner for Alberta, inspected the troop at Mannville under leadership of Scoutmaster Harry Allen.

He saw the troop go through their routine exercises and gave an instructive talk to them. Following this Mr. Holloway met with the Scout officials and promoters of the Mannville group and outlined a new program to interest more boys.

LOCAL MAN KILLED IN ACCIDENT; FUNERAL HELD IN EDMONTON

REDWATER — Funeral services for the late Kenneth Lonsdale of Redwater were held from the Chapel of Chimes in Edmonton.

Mr. Londsdale passed away in the Royal Alexandra Hospital, after having received severe injuries in an accident which also took the life of Bud Sprague of Gibbons.

Lonsdale and Sprague were passengers in a late model sedan, which when overtaking a car driven by Rev. M. Baziuk of Redwater, on Highway 28, side-swiped the car being driven by Mr. Baziuk and apparently went out of control. After going out of control the car left the road and turned end over end in the deep ditch beside an arterial road leading to Gibbons.

RCMP recovered Sprague's body from underneath the overturned car in the ditch. Lonsdale had apparently been thrown clear. RCMP have made no statement as to who was the driver of the vehicle.

Mr. Lonsdale is survived by his wife Rita Royer Lonsdale and two children Aaron, aged eight and Janice, aged six.

CNR Extending Railiner Service

Revisions of scedules in the Edmonton area will put two lines where "railiners" are operated on a daily instead of a six-day service to and from Edmonton, officials of the CNR said.

When the seasonal time card change took effect April 26, the present service between Edmonton and Drumheller, now provided by "railiners" 625 and 626 daily except Sunday, went on a seven-day basis.

This week a seven-day "railiner" service will be inaugurated between Edmonton and Grande Centre, to the north, to serve the vicinity of the Cold Lake airport. The present service is daily, except Saturday out of Edmonton and daily except Sunday, from Grande Centre.

COLLEEN LAURIN, ADRIEN BOUCHARD WIN HIGH SCHOOL SPEECH CONTEST

RYCROFT — An eventful day, Friday, April 17, brought together seven contestants representing four high schools in the division. Interested spectators filled Rycroft Auditorium to listen to the speech contest. Mrs. St. Jean started the program off by playing "O Canada." Mr. Hennig, principal of Eaglesham School and president of the principal's association, introduced the judges, Mr. Fimrite, MLA, and Mr. Harrington of Wanham; Mrs. Lampert, university professor of English every Saturday in Grande Prairie and English teacher in Grande Prairie High School. Thought-provoking speeches were given on "World Peace" by Jane Shemanko and Colleen Laurin of Rycroft; Walter Hull and Leslie Abell of Spirit River; Adrien Bouchard and Jean Pelletier of Eaglesham; and Viola Scott of St. Mary's Separate School of Spirit River.

During the three intermissions, the Woking Orchestra entertained. This orchestra consisted of a group of the younger generation. The five Sellin brothers, Connie, Herbie, Werner, Willy and Rhiney, made up the group with the exception of one girl, Glady Zaichkowsky. Thanks are due to Nick Shymr, principal of Woking School, and his orchestra.

After a brief suspenseful wait, Mrs. Lampert announced the two winners to be Adrien Bouchard, Eaglesham, and Colleeen Laurin, Rycroft. Those present congratulated both students and hoped that their summer's experience will be both educational and enjoyable.

The committee appreciated the time the judges so generously gave and a question it intended to ask Mr. Fimrite was, "How do these speeches compare to those of Edmonton", but we hesitated to do so.

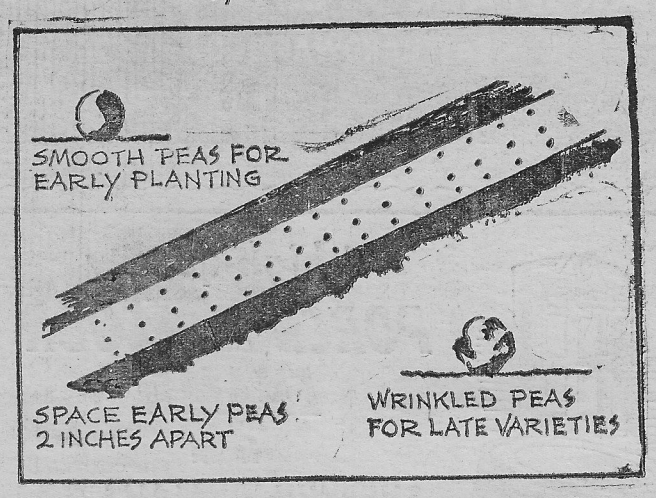
Lunch was served by the grade eight class.

If you haven't taken any exercise in the last few years, you might get in the next good marble game you see, and work up from there.

THIS IS THE MAIN STREET of the Town of McLennan, Alberta. The town has a population of approximately 1,080 and is a service centre for the Northern Alberta Railways as well as a divisional point.

Garden Graph

By DEAN HALLIDAY



EARLY AND LATE PEAS

Fresh, green peas of your own picking, that is the dream of every home gardener.

Pick 'em, cook 'em, serve 'em within the hour is the only way to know peas at their best. Loss of sweetness and tenderness increases in proportion to the time lost between picking and cooking.

Peas are a cool weather crop and grow best in the spring and again in the fall.

The smooth type of pea seeds should be used for early plantings since they are a hardier variety than the wrinkled and will not be injured by frost.

As illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph, plant early peas two inches apart in the trench and cover to a depth of two inches.

By planting early peas closely and evenly, the foliage of one row will shade the roots of the next row, keeping the roots moist and cool.

Peas do not like dryness at their feet. Therefore, early plantings need not be planted as deep as later plantings.

Peas planted late in the season should be placed deeper than spring plantings. In heavy soil plant late peas in trenches four inches deep and in light soil about six inches deep.

Help Your Child Toward Maturity

affection so that he can see that no hard feelings are left. He should never be allowed to go to bed unforgiven.

All of us should remember the old maxim, "Let not the sun go down upon thy wrath." Parents should never "stay mad".

Obviously, a father cannot hope to keep the respect of his children unless he has strength of character and firmness and the type of personality that his children can admire. He should be the sort of man who makes few demands of his children, but who will immediately and surely enforce those that he does make.

This type of discipline can, I think be maintained in a home without any harshness. Children should never be beaten.

PADDLED WHEN SMALL

My experience with my four easily - controlled children was that they needed some paddling when they were small and could not be reasoned with. As soon as they were old enough to be reasoned with and talked to, there was rarely any need for corporal punishment, and surely never any need for a beating.

One of the worst ways of punishing children is that in which the mother gets herself into a most troublesome and annoying and tiring situation from which she eventually has to retreat.

For instance, she may say to her teen-age daughter, "Because you have been insolent, you cannot see TV or go to the movies for a week, or you cannot have your chum here to supper."

By prolonging the punishment, instead of making it instant and direct and over with soon, the mother lets herself in for the child's begging and nagging and making a nuisance of herself. In many cases a weak-willed mother soon gives in, and this is bad. The moral is: punishment should come immediately and be of short duration.
